

Pitmans Law fixed fee terms and conditions

Well-drafted terms and conditions are crucial for any business in order to provide certainty and clarity as to the terms of the relationship between the supplier and customer.

Terms and conditions clarify the rights and responsibilities of the parties involved including the scope of the goods/services provided, price, payment, delivery and limitations of liability. Without terms and conditions you leave yourself vulnerable to added complexities and your rights and obligations left to common law, potentially meaning more onerous responsibilities and liabilities.

Investing in sound terms and conditions could also save you time and money in the future should disputes arise from the lack of clear and certain agreements.

We offer a terms and conditions service on a fixed fee basis meaning you can use the contract infinitely without incurring further costs.

	Fee quote (exc. VAT and disbursements)
Review of existing terms and conditions (includes advice on weaknesses of current drafting where appropriate and suggestions for improvement)	£600
Review and amendments to existing terms and conditions (includes amending and improving the terms and conditions where necessary)	£1,000
Drafting a new set of terms and conditions (includes a first draft and follow-up review with client)	£1,600
